

Large-area photovoltaic panels are equipped with monitoring

Overview

Rather than placing the panels in a fixed position, they keep adjusting the solar panel angle according to the sun's position in the sky. This absorbs more energy compared to fixed panels. Regular maintenance requirements. Efficient inspection of components within these stations is crucial. However, the large area of photovoltaic power generation, coupled with a substantial number of photovoltaic panels and complex geographical environments, renders manual inspection methods highly inefficient. Maintain and improve solar energy output by combining weather analytics and PV panel conditions with your PV production data. Easily integrate important weather analytics and PV panel conditions into your monitoring system. As solar energy grows as a key renewable power source, monitoring and maintaining solar farms is essential. The methodology can be replicated anywhere in the world, and its effectiveness has been validated in a number of studies.
